in the country

*Alleys of birch and rowan-berry trees lining the roads, thick forests and deep green meadows between the glossy mirrors of scattered ponds, villages snuggled up on the hillsides, dwellings sprinkled throughout the countryside, a colourful mosaic inspiring painters, music of the great composers as well as songs of the folk artists.
This is Vysočina - the Highlands.*

The Guide „Holiday in the country“ brings you a selection of accommodation in small camping sites, farms, summer apartments and guesthouses. All accommodation facilities on offer were assessed and verified on the spot by the experts of the Vysočina Regional Council. The emphasis was given not only to the fact, that the facility is situated in a peaceful country environment, but also that it has possibilities for popular activities such as horse-riding or cycling.

Interduction

The Vysočina Highlands region is situated in the central part of the Czech Republic and its picturesque countryside is sought after especially by lovers of well-preserved nature. The whole area is filled by the Bohemian-Moravian Highlands, the most extensive mountain ranges in the Czech Republic, the countryside being divided by elongated hills, valleys of rivers and many forests and small woods. Since ancient times fishponds have been a part of the landscape, the oldest were founded already in the 13th century. A number of dams were built, some of them serve as drinking water reservoirs, and others are popular recreation resorts. The network of rivers is dense, with numerous river arms, and many rivers have their springs here. Due to the nature and cultural value the countryside of a considerable part of the Highlands has the status of a legally protected area. The protected places confine the original vegetation, rare species of flora and fauna, peat-bogs and rock formations. Unexpected experiences await visitors in the valley of the Doubrava River with tower-rocks and waterfalls, and the boating men fell in love with the Sázava River rushing over the huge granite boulders creating many rapids. One unique place is the Mohelno Serpentine Steppe, where the geological base - serpentine rock - creates favourable conditions for rare flora species. The most popular destinations for hikers are the highest peaks of the Vysočina Highlands region – Javořice (837 m) and Devět Skal (836 m).

Active recreation

Thanks to its well-preserved landscape the Vysočina Highlands is one of the regions having the healthiest environment. Vast dense forests lure visitors for strolls, enchanting nature nooks offer excellent conditions for active recreation and sports. A dense network of well-marked tourist routes 2700 km long covers the countryside, which promise unforgettable experiences for lovers of silent nature. Also 800 km of marked cyclo-tourist routes offer an opportunity to discover the most valuable places in the countryside. The more-fit visitors can choose the more difficult terrain, families with children will enjoy the gentle slopes with far-reaching views. The picturesque countryside can also be admired from horse-back or on board the sight-seeing aeroplane. Lovers of mountain climbing will certainly appreciate selected parts of the highest peaks of the Žďárské Vrchy Hills. Numerous ponds will cool you down on hot summer days, and warm you up when skating in winter. The largest ponds are a paradise for wind-surfers and yachters, dams are ideal for water sport enthusiasts and fishermen. In the towns you will find playgrounds, tennis courts, squash halls, indoor swimming pools and modern outdoor swimming pools.

Countryside of winter pleasures

The Vysočina Highlands is enchanting not only in summer, glowing in the warm sunbeams and dressed in all possible tones of green, but also in winter, when the icy-cold snowstorms cover everything around with sparkling white snowdrifts. The winter sport enthusiasts will certainly appreciate excellent conditions for cross-country skiing. The most significant winter resorts are located in the northern part of the region, which in winter changes into a big skiers' paradise with many tens of kilometres of cross-country skiing tracks for professional as well as recreational skiers. Lovers of downhill skiing will find wonderful conditions for this sport in the entire region, there are thirty ski slopes of different difficulty levels, with ski lifts, artificial lights and technical snow facilities.

Heritage of the past

Man has been inseparably tied with this part of the country for many centuries. In deep forests on both sides of the former border between Bohemia and Moravia people built roads and settlements for their protection, they dried the land, established towns. The past centuries have left behind them countless architectural properties in the entire region - proud Gothic castles, dreamy Renaissance chateaux, magnificent Baroque monasteries. You can meet history in every step, it is depicted in museum expositions as well as in Art Galleries. The castle Lipnice nad Sázavou offers apart from beautiful views over the surrounding countryside summer performances of musicians, theatres and historical fencing groups. The former guard castle Roštejn, converted into a Renaissance hunting lodge, offers mysterious night tours and visitors can experience a real medieval banquet. You can also enjoy the atmosphere of the past during the summer festivals on the reconstructed castle ruins Orlik near Humpolec or at the square of the castle Ledec nad Sázavou. Visitors to the Renaissance chateau in Náměšť nad Oslavou will be astounded by the valuable tapestry collection as well as by the historic personalities, who bring the chateau to life during the summer celebration. The Baroque chateau in Jaroměřice nad Rokytnou, surrounded by a beautiful park, has a long musical tradition. Visitors can admire mural frescoes and movables during the tours through the Premonstratensian monasteries Želiv and Nová Říše.

Rooted in ancient history are the towns, which in their past went through times of boom and flourish as well as through destruction from devastating wars. Jihlava was in the Medieval Ages thanks to silver mining one of the wealthiest towns in the Bohemian Kingdom. It guarded its wealth by huge fortification walls, of which a large portion is preserved up to the present day. Found under the large square is a several-storey labyrinth of underground corridors. Pelhřimov gained its Baroque appearance after a devastating fire in the 18th century. Preserved from the Medieval Ages are the fortification walls with two gates, found in the chateau are museum collections. Havlíčkův Brod was founded on the Sázava River on an important business route. The historic town centre is made up of two Baroque squares surrounded by gabled houses with a fountain in the middle.

To the UNESCO heritage sites

Three most significant historical properties in the region are listed in the UNESCO World Cultural Heritage List. In the Historic Town Centre of Telč a square lined by merchant houses with Renaissance gables and arcades together with the Renaissance chateau create an extremely valuable architectural complex.

The Pilgrimage Church of St. John of Nepomuk at Zelená Hora in Žďár nad Sázavou with the symbolic layout of St. John's five-pointed star is the masterpiece of the Czech architect J. B. Santini in the style of Baroque Gothic from the beginning of the 18th century.

The Romanesque-Gothic Basilica of St. Procopius in Třebíč, with a monumental portal and large triple-nave crypt is one of the most valuable properties of its kind in Central Europe, and uniquely preserved houses in the Jewish town with two synagogues and a large Jewish cemetery, commemorating the existence of the local Jewish community.

Specially for children

An attraction for children is the Western town Šiklův Mlýn, like from the Wild West movies. You can visit the saloon, gambling room and the sheriff's office, in summer you can meet bison, Indians or fur-trappers, watch the gold panning and brave stunt-man horse-riding show. Situated in the centre of Jihlava is the zoo, where children can enjoy the uniquely designed children's playground with a small „contact zoo“ and 12-metre long helter-skelter. The South American pavilion has tropical rain and the sounds of the jungle, the original native huts are built in the African village Matongo. The International Festival of Records and Curiosities is held every year in Pelhřimov, during which the record-men from all over the world try to do something extraordinary and be enlisted in the Guinness Book of records. More than a hundred exhibits, results of this festival, can be seen in the museum.

The Vysočina Highland region is a lively and warm-hearted land, which captivates and enchants everybody with its unique magic.

Welcome to you too.

How to book accommodation?

1. For easier selection each accommodation facility is marked with a code letter:

-  C = small camps
-  S = self-catering in an equipped kitchenette
- cottages, summer flats, apartments and tourist hostels
-  B = bed and breakfast - small family guesthouses

Note: The price is always determined by the owner of the accommodation. In case of the places for rent - cottages, summer flats and apartments, there can be an extra charge for the electricity used, or you can be asked for a deposit, which is returned later. Some of the accommodation facilities marked „S“ can also offer breakfast.

2. We recommend to book the selected accommodation in advance. There are two possibilities:

a) contact the booking centre by e-mail, fax or phone; our staff speak Czech, English and German and within two days you will get the confirmation of your request or you will be offered an alternative period or location; after the approval you will receive a written confirmation of your booking and information regarding the payment of the deposit of the price and booking fee of 580 CZK (circa 20 Euro) per one reservation for a maximum of 6 persons, one location and one period.
